About the Presenters

Katrina and Elisha are Educational Coordinators for the UF-Jacksonville Center for Autism and Related Disabilities. They created the Behavioral Detective Social Skills Camp curriculum for children with Asperger's Syndrome ages 6 to 12.

Training Description

This presentation will first review how teachers can collect data on student's skill acquisition and engagement in challenging behaviors. Easy and effective methods for collecting data will be covered, and example data sheets will be provided. Audience members will have opportunities to practice using different data collection techniques and making data-based decisions.
